

Leadership for this time

Nature-based Retreat with Margaret Wheatley July 3-6

Facilitated by Samantha Graham and Rosie Walford

A one-off opportunity to spend 3 days in the Queensland rainforest with Margaret Wheatley, reconnecting with our purpose, with like-minded colleagues and with the living world.

- What role can I play in creating the changes that are so crucial in these extraordinary times?
- How can I use my talents and experience to be of greater service for the world?
- How do I hold true to inspiration, persevere, and not lose my way?

About Margaret Wheatley

Meg Wheatley is an author, international speaker, change agent, grandmother and mentor to leaders across the planet. Her groundbreaking book Leadership and the New Science, showed how discoveries in quantum physics, chaos theory and biology challenge our understandings of innovation, leadership and organizational change. A practicing Buddhist, Meg is returning to Australia to continue her work with government, change consultants, indigenous and corporate leaders alike.

About your facilitators, Samantha and Rosie

Samantha Graham has been designing Sustainability Education for 18 years, since completing her Masters in Human Ecology and her PhD in corporate sustainability. She now consults in Sydney as Stormlight Consulting, with clients such as ANZ, Microsoft, Phillips, The Australian Conservation Foundation and various local councils.

Formerly Strategic Planning Director for a global advertising agency, Rosie Walford now combines her training as an eco-psychologist and creative problem-solver in The Big Stretch mountain retreats (Spain & NZ). Co-author of PwC's Responsible Leadership programme and columnist in NZ Herald, Rosie coaches and consults to clients such as Unilever, Bodyshop, Greenpeace & Telecom.

How does the Retreat Work?

From the comfort & tranquility of our rainforest retreat centre, you'll tackle your big questions through 3 types of experience:

- Campfire time - whole group exercises and uncommon conversation
- Bush time - guided immersion in nature. Reconnecting with pristine ecosystems. Fostering intuition and creative insight
- Hammock time - private reflection, with some one-on-one coaching to promote breakthroughs in purpose and direction

For an intimate and powerful dynamic this retreat is designed for a minimum of 14 and maximum of 18 people.

Venue: O'Reilly's Rainforest Retreat, Lamington National Park, Queensland

Cost: $2350 AUD, includes all meals, ensuite accommodation, guided walks, Brisbane transfers
